

Relationships – the Roots of Our Business!

“Misty and I have had the opportunity to work with several builders in the community over the years.....I must say that none has pleased us more than Richard. He is very creative and provided us with ideas that most contractors don't have. As homeowners it's tough to visualize the end result off a set of plans. Richard provided ideas to make the renovation more appealing. These are ideas that we would not have thought of. For me, it was the simple things that made working with Richard a great experience: showing up everyday on time, starting the job when he said he would, completing the project on time and on budget. These are the things that make Edgy Homes second to none. We are already looking forward to our next project and no one but Richard will construct it.”
